Arkla Refuses to Move Line on S. Main

The City Directors at their regular meeting last night spent a good bit of time discussing the problem of getting the gas lines on South Main Street relocated to permit widening and reconstruction of the street.

The gas company has refused to move them unless the community reimburses them for the cost, estimated to be $25,965. The city is contending that under the terms of the franchise granted to the gas company, permitting them to locate lines in the streets and alleys is subject to their readjusting the lines, wherever necessary, to accommodate other public needs.

A high pressure main line feeder into the city is located just outside the present curb, and would be under the street when widened. For heavy construction machinery to work over and alongside this line is considered too hazardous, and for safety and maintenance of the line, it should not be under the pavement. There are other service lines that would have to be adjusted to accommodate the installation of storm sewer, which must be installed to grade. The Board of Directors asked the City Manager and City Attorney to continue efforts to work out some agreement with the gas company to get the gas lines readjusted to permit the other necessary work in the rebuilding of South Main Street.

City Manager, Garland Medders, reported on a visit with the Federal Aviation Administration in Ft. Worth concerning the transfer of lands to provide a site for the Tennessee Forge and Steel Company, and the obtaining of federal assistance to rebuild the north-south runway at the airport. A recent estimate on the cost of breaking out and replacing the necessary concrete to remove two humps in the runway that are causing serious trouble to air traffic was $235,000. The F.A.A. is sending some people out of the Ft. Worth office to make a thorough study of this and see if there is some alternate method of repair that would be satisfactory. They told the city manager that they are willing to assist on the project but want to be sure that any money spent on repair will produce the greatest possible benefit to air traffic.

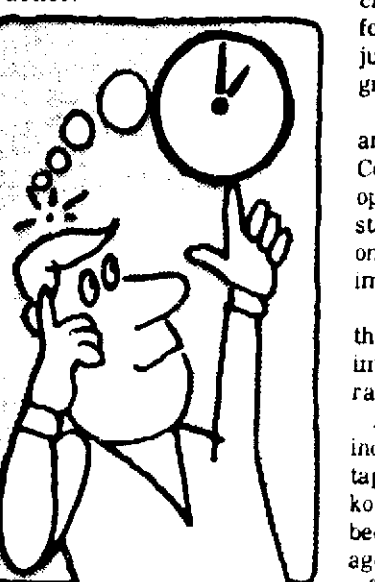

The City Directors passed a resolution pledging that any monies received from the transfer of property will be used for permanent improvements at the airport.

The Board discussed a notice from the Sheriff's Department

Violates Air Code
TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP)—G. W. Flannagan, the operator of Junior's Salvage Yard east of here, was found guilty Tuesday of violating the states air code. Municipal Court Judge Bert Larey found Flannagan guilty of a misdemeanor and gave him a 30-day probationary sentence. Flannagan had been charged with burning car bodies to eliminate foreign materials so that the metal could be sold to steel plants.

An official of the state Pollution Control & Ecology Department said Flannagan had been warned previously about the practice.

Congress Ready to Approve Next Stage of Freeze

Foreign Aid Bill Enters UN Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today American support for the United Nations and some foreign aid allocations could be affected by what it described as "a shocking spectacle" on the U.N. General Assembly floor following a defeat of the administration's two-China policy.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, reading from notes in response to a question, said television news broadcast made it clear that some delegates displayed "personal animosity" toward the U.S. policy following the series of votes Monday night that resulted in admission of Communist China and expulsion of Taiwan from the U.N.

Speaking of President Nixon, Ziegler said: "He was shocked by this action. He interpreted it as being undisguised glee and personal animosity on the part of certain delegates toward the U.S. policy."

Ziegler said the reaction of the delegates was unworthy of the U.N. and "could seriously impair the support in the Congress and the country for the United Nations."

While saying "it is not our intention to retaliate," Ziegler said some of the delegates whose actions were offensive to Nixon represent nations which have been large recipients of American foreign aid.

Therefore, he said, "The shocking spectacle could also affect foreign aid allocations because of the impact on Congress and the people."

Asked to be specific about the actions he was decrying, Ziegler spoke of "the cheering, the clapping, the undignified actions on the part of some delegates."

The press secretary said Nixon often has expressed support for the United Nations and wants to see it succeed.

200 Laid Off at Spa Plant

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—About 200 employees of the Featherlite Mfg. Co., were laid off Tuesday.

John Boyd, plant manager, said about half of the persons laid off were probationary employees. He gave no reason for the layoff.

The plant makes aluminum screen doors.

Rate Hike Foes Charge Arkla Is Downright Greedy

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. was charged Tuesday with asking for rate increases that were unjust, unrealistic and "downright greedy."

Tom Burton of Houston, Tex., an attorney for Continental Oil Co., made the remarks at the opening of a hearing by the state Public Service Commission on whether to allow Arkla to impose higher rates Nov. 15.

Burton told the PSC Tuesday there was no immediate and compelling need to put the new rates into effect.

Arkansas contends it needs to increase rates to raise funds to tap new reserves in the Anadarko Basin of Oklahoma in Texas because of a growing gas shortage.

The proposed increase would average 32 per cent per 1,000 cubic feet of gas, or an average increase of 20 per cent.

Reuben Goldberg of Washington, D.C., Arkla's special counsel, said the utility required higher rates to attract investors and capital.

"It is self-evident that if you don't have the rates and the means of passing on increased costs to the customers, you're not going to be able to demonstrate an adequate cash flow or that you can count an acceptable plan of financing," Goldberg said.

Joseph H. King of New York City, chairman of the board of Eastman Dillon, Union Securities and Co., Inc., testified that Arkla would not be able to finance a proposed pipeline to the Anadarko Basin without higher rates.

During the testimony, Burton said Arkla's application was premature because of the uncertainty over what measures the federal government will take during the postfreeze phase of President Nixon's economic program.

No Word on Plane; Cubans Won't Leave

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

While 236 hijacked Americans spent their second night at a hotel in Havana, a planeload of Cubans who refused to leave New Orleans enjoyed a night of American hospitality.

The tale of the Americans who couldn't go home and the Cubans who wouldn't started Monday night when a gunman hijacked an American Airlines 747 jumbo jet en route from New York to San Juan, P.R.

It carried a crew of 15 and listed three sky marshals and an off-duty FBI agent among its passengers.

The 747 put down at Havana's Jose Marti Airport at 9:58 p.m. Monday and was sitting there Tuesday noon when Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin arrived for a "friendship visit" to the Communist controlled island.

The cheers of the Cuban throng that met Kosygin had hardly died down in Havana when a Soviet-built twin-engine prop jet landed at New Orleans after a flight from Cuba.

That plane carried a crew of three and 19 passengers who said they had flown to New Orleans to attend an international sugar cane convention—even

French Sign Pact With Russians

PARIS (AP) — France and the Soviet Union today marked Leonid I. Brezhnev's visit to Paris with signature of a 10-year economic cooperation agreement calling for close links between the industries of the two nations.

The agreement, signed as the Soviet Communist party chief returned to the Elysee Palace for more talks with President Georges Pompidou, is designed to promote greater joint efforts in production of manufactures ranging from automobiles to data processing equipment and in development of large industrial complexes.

Raw materials, capital goods and techniques also will be exchanged under the agreement signed by French Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing and Soviet Foreign Trade Minister Nikolai Patolichev.

Later today the Russians and the French were to sign a contract for the state-owned Renault auto company to participate as a prime contractor in the building of the Soviet government's huge Kama River truck plant. The contract may run to $300 million.

The U.S. government forced the Ford Motor Co. and Mack Truck to drop negotiations with Moscow to build the $1.4 billion complex. The Renault deal is expected to set up for France most of the equipment supply for two large sections of the complex.

Kissinger Called in by Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) President Nixon summoned Dr. Henry A. Kissinger to a White House breakfast today to discuss details of the Chief Executive's upcoming meeting with top leaders of Communist China.

Kissinger returned Wednesday to Washington after extending his stay in Peking for two days. The presidential advisor only smiled and waved to reporters after his plane landed at Andrews Air Force Base in Maryland following a 15-hour flight from Peking.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Kissinger extended his stay to "finalize preparations" for the Nixon journey. Asked if the extension resulted because of a hitch in negotiations, Ziegler replied, "We have no indication that there was a hitch. I think they made good progress."

Secretary of State William P. Rogers also is scheduled to attend the 8:30 a.m. breakfast, the White House said.

Yeh Chien-ying, vice chairman of the Communist party Central Committee's military commission, and Chi Peng-fei, acting foreign minister, were among the officials who saw Kissinger depart, Radio Peking reported.

Americans Accept But Do Not Like

By KENNETH J. FREED

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration says it accepts the U.N. expulsion of Taiwan as a cost of democracy, but it still talks of cutting American financial support for the world body.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers put the administration on both sides of the street Tuesday when he said each factor is part of official U.S. thinking.

He first told a news conference "We will not support a reduction of funds for the United Nations in retaliation for this vote."

To do so, he said, would be to reject the democratic process "and we in the United States are accustomed to being bound by a majority vote."

But in his next sentence Rogers said to reporters: "The other problem, though, the related problem of whether the United Nations is spending too much money or not, is a very difficult question, which we will have to address."

"And I think that my own view is that it has spent too much money in the past. And we have probably contributed more than our share."

Later in the day, the White House was asked if President Nixon shared Rogers' view on the U.S.-U.N. financial relations. "The secretary of state spoke for the United States government today," was the answer.

What he actually meant by what he said, however, remained in question, even by some administration officials' accounts.

Although they maintained Rogers was not directly linking the U.N. defeat and American financial support, they acknowledged the way he explained his stand and even the positioning of his answers could be misread. And they lacked any explanation why Rogers' answers came out as they did.

But there was no uncertainty of his disappointment in the U.N. action and his expressed feeling of bad times to come for the international agency.

"The United States," he said, "deeply regrets the action taken by the United Nations to deprive the Republic of China of representation in that organization. We think that this precedent... is a most unfortunate one which will have many adverse effects in the future."

Although he was not specific about any weakening of the United Nations, he did say U.S. public support for the U.N. generally, and for continued American fiscal aid specifically, will be affected.

"I think there is some question in the minds of the American people," he said, "and certainly in the minds of Congress, about whether we are carrying too great a share of the burden."

Three Persons Killed in Collision

HELENA, Ark. (AP)— Three persons were killed and seven others were injured in a car-truck crash on Arkansas 44 about 18 miles south of Helena Tuesday.

State Police identified the victims as Mrs. Lucy Pickle, 26, of rural Phillips County and two of her children, Melissa Pickle, 2, and Alexander Pickle, 3.

Three of her other children were injured, one, Mollie Ann Pickle, 7, critically.

State Trooper Robert Mills said the collision was between a soft-drink truck driven by Jack Milam, 43, a Helena policeman who drives the truck during his off-duty hours, and a car driven by Johnny Valdez, 22, of West Helena.

Mills said Valdez lost control of the car on a curve.

Winnie Ruth Judd, Trunk Slayer, Has Won Her Freedom

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The life sentence of 1930s trunk murderer Winnie Ruth Judd has been commuted to time served in prison.

A final decision on parole stemming from Gov. Jack Williams' commutation action Tuesday rests with the state Board of Pardons and Paroles. The board had decided by a 2-1 vote Feb. 23 that Mrs. Judd's sentence should be commuted.

The board member who voted against commutation, Walter S. Michael of Phoenix, said Tuesday night he now has changed his mind after talking with the governor several times.

Since Mrs. Judd has indicated she wants to rejoin a San Francisco family with whom she was living until her capture and return to Arizona in 1969, an agreement on parole board supervision between the two states would have to be reached, according to board Chairman Keith E. Edwards.

"It's a cinch we couldn't parole her one day and she would be out the next day," Edwards said. "It would depend upon how fast they (California authorities) operate. Routinely it takes a little while."

Mrs. Judd, 66, was convicted in 1932 of the shooting death of Agnes Anne LeRoi on Oct. 17, 1931.

Mrs. Judd was not tried for the murder of Hedvig Samuelson. His dismembered, nude body was found in one blood-soaked trunk and Mrs. LeRoi's in another at a Los Angeles railroad station where they were shipped by Mrs. Judd.

On Feb. 24, 1932, Mrs. Judd was sentenced to death after a sensational trial.

Shortly before Mrs. Judd was to be hanged a sanity hearing indicated she was mentally incompetent and in April 1933 she was committed to the Arizona State Hospital in Phoenix.

Years later, Gov. Howard Pyle commuted her death sentence to life imprisonment, with no possibility of parole.

During her many years at the state mental hospital, Mrs. Judd escaped seven times. The latest disappearance was Oct. 8, 1962. She stayed hidden until June 1969 when she was discovered working as a domestic for a San Francisco family.

U.S., Japan Still Want Two Chinas

TOKYO (AP) — Peking hailed today its election to the United Nations but predicted the United States and Japan will keep trying to create two Chinas. President Chiang Kai-shek vowed again to overthrow the Communist regime.

Peking's official New China News Agency, referring to the General Assembly vote Monday to admit Communist China and oust the Nationalists, said: "This significant victory in foiling the U.S.-Japanese reactionaries' plot to create 'two Chinas' in the United Nations was won by the Chinese people and the people of the world and various friendly countries upholding international justice through a protracted joint struggle."

Earlier reports from Peking said the Chinese soon may send a delegation to the United Nations. There was speculation Premier Chou En-lai would head it to dramatize the event.

The Peking correspondent of Tokyo's Asahi Shimbun said Chou appeared cheerful Tuesday night at an Iranian reception, moving from table to table and shaking hands with all foreign guests. The report said it was quite "unusual" for Chou to do so much handshaking at a party.

Acting Foreign Minister Chi Peng-fei told newsmen his government was considering sending a delegation to the United Nations, Asahi reported.

The New China News Agency said the General Assembly vote "clearly indicated that the peoples of the world are demanding that the Chiang Kai-shek clique be expelled from all U.N. bodies." But the Nationalists remained entrenched in the specialized U.N. agencies because their constitutions make no provision for withdrawal of membership.

New Program at Local Tech School

Under a new program recently instituted, high school students are now receiving training at Red River Vocational Technical School in Hope.

The classes are made up of students from Willisville, Hope, Emmet, Blevins, and Washington, who, in addition to attending class during the regular school day at their respective high schools, train two hours a day at the vocational school. Classes are held from 7 o'clock to 9 o'clock each morning, and from 4 o'clock to 6 o'clock each afternoon, Monday through Friday.

This group of young men will receive introductory training in automobile mechanics, welding, masonry construction, plumbing and pipefitting, and machine shop. They will rotate into each of these areas during the year, and will receive both classroom and laboratory training experience.

Instructors for the program are advanced students in the regular vocational technical program and retired craftsmen in the fields.

This is a first for Red River Vocational Technical School and for the State of Arkansas. Enrollment now is thirty-two, which can—and probably will—be increased at semester by other schools coming into the program.

Cost of this program is being shared by Red River Vocational Technical School, the high schools, and the students. Students participating will receive two units of credit toward graduation.

Coal, Dock Workers Told to Return

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
New Orleans and Philadelphia longshoremen were under separate court orders today to return to work but walkouts by some 27,000 other East and Gulf Coast dockworkers and 100,000 soft coal miners continued.

U.S. District Court Judge Jack M. Gordon issued a temporary injunction in New Orleans Tuesday night ordering the port's 6,000 longshoremen back to work on the petition of the National Labor Relations Board.

The board argued the men were engaged in an illegal secondary boycott in support of a walkout by New York dockworkers. A witness for the International Longshoremen's Association held the strikes were unrelated.

The shippers association in Mobile, Ala., filed similar charges of an illegal secondary boycott with the NLRB against 2,000 longshoremen in that port. The three Philadelphia I.L.A. locals face fines totaling $89,000 and their 5,000 members personal fines of $50 a day if they do not return to work today.

About 400 of the longshoremen returned to work Tuesday after State Judge Edmund B. Spaeth Jr. found the locals in contempt of an earlier back to work order and set the stiff fines.

The 26-day-old dock strike began when the I.L.A. and the New York Shipping Association reached an impasse over a local contract provision guaranteeing an annual income. No talks were scheduled.

The United Mine Workers strike in 20 states entered its 27th day and the president of the Norfolk and Western Railway said the walkout has had a more severe impact than any coal strike in the past.

N&W President John Fishwick told a Cleveland, Ohio, news conference Tuesday "it's worse for us to have a coal strike than a rail strike" because "40 per cent of our income is from coal."

Negotiations were continuing in Washington but an industry source, referring to West Virginia Gov. Arch Moore Jr.'s statement that the talks were 90 per cent settled, said: "I'd say 90 per cent is stretching it a bit. If it's not stretching it, you could say that the last 10 per cent difference is going to be sticky going."

President Thinks Highly of Joe

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—President Nixon thinks highly of Arkansas quarterback Joe Ferguson, according to Gov. Dale Bumpers.

Bumpers said Tuesday that Nixon had indicated to him that he was "very high" on Ferguson. Nixon, who is an avid football fan, made the comment while talking to the eight governors who returned to the United States after an 18-day tour of Russia and Romania.

The governors met with Nixon Saturday at the White House.

though the United States had denied their request for visas. The pilot, Ray Morina, was ordered by the U.S. State Department to leave. But he refused to do so without orders from his own government.

After spending nine hours locked behind customs office doors, the Cuban delegation was led to an airport hotel to spend the night.

On the way to the hotel, Francia Metre of the Cuban delegation said the group had a right to attend "because Cuba is the largest sugar-producing country in the world. The conference would not be an international one without our group."

Federal Aviation Administration officials in Miami, meanwhile, said they were unable to learn from Cuba when the 747 would be allowed to leave.

"After that Kosygin celebration dies down, they might get around to releasing it. They only have one runway, you know," an FAA spokesman said.

The State Department said in Washington it did not know how long Kosygin would stay in Cuba and refused to speculate if the jumbo jet might be held until he left.

Although the involuntary exchange of Americans and Cuban aircraft raised a lot of questions, Kosygin's visit answered one.

Havana Radio said Prime Minister Fidel Castro was among the crowd that welcomed Kosygin, disputing rumors that Castro was hospitalized and critically ill.

Okinawa Could Bring Review of Jap Relation

By SPENCER DAVIS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A full-scale review of U.S.-Japanese relations may emerge today as Secretary of State William P. Rogers leads off a two-day Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearing on the treaty returning Okinawa to Japan after 27 years of American rule.

The Nixon administration expects to win both committee approval and Senate ratification of the treaty signed last June but not without some controversy.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., has expressed the view of some conservative quarters that Japan—not mainland China—constitutes the greatest potential threat to the United States in the Far East and that caution should be exercised in returning strategic military bases to a former enemy.

The recent textile agreement between the United States and Japan was expected to remove latent opposition to the revision treaty on the part of senators from Southern textile states.

Rogers told newsmen Tuesday the textile agreement and Japan's efforts to keep the Nationalist Chinese in the United Nations "are going to help a great deal" in the administration's drive for ratification.

Insurance Men Want Private Coverage

By EDMOND LEBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Spokesmen for the insurance industry argued today for a national health care plan based on private insurance coverage with tax incentives.

Unlike President Nixon's plan, also based on private insurance, the system would rely on tax provisions rather than mandatory requirements for employers to offer coverage to their employees. The federal government would join the states in financing coverage for the poor.

"Our experience has convinced us that what America needs is not some untold monolithic, bureaucratic system, but a reoriented, better coordinated, and more soundly-financed system built on present strengths, encouraging experimentation and flexibility and providing multiple choice to the consumer," said J. Henry Smith, president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society.

His testimony was prepared for the House Ways and Means Committee and offered on behalf of the Health Insurance Assn. of America, American Life Convention, Life Insurance Association of America and Life Insurance conference.

Paul D. Hill, on behalf of the International Assn. of Health Underwriters, also supported the legislation, saying "we believe that it is by far the best of all the solutions that have been proposed to help solve the problem of financing health care on a national basis, and making that care available to everyone, regardless of ability to pay."

The American Dental Association urged the committee "not to approve any national health insurance program that lacks a well-designed dental component."

Dr. LeRoy N. Larson of Fort Dodge, Iowa, speaking for the association, said Nixon's proposal might even eliminate some dental care funds now available to the needy.

U.S. Record in UN Is Better Than Russia

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.S. failure to prevent the expulsion of Nationalist China from the United Nations had an unusual impact because the United States has usually been on the winning side in U.N. confrontations.

Although Washington's built-in majority no longer exists because of the flood of new Asian and African members, the United States has usually wound up with the winners on most issues except colonialism. Most of its other defeats have been on comparatively minor issues.

The U.S. record is far better than that of the Soviet Union. Moscow has been condemned for such acts as the military intervention in Hungary, and the Soviet Union is more often than not on the losing side of U.N. votes. Britain and France have lost some major battles, too. In the Suez crisis of 1956 they had to resort to the veto to prevent condemnation by the Security Council.

The United States suffered a significant defeat after the 1967 Arab-Israeli war when it campaigned strenuously for a resolution on troop withdrawals acceptable to Israel. Both this and a rival Arab proposal failed to win the required two-thirds majority, and the emergency session of the General Assembly ended without action.

Shortly after Arthur J. Goldberg became chief U.S. delegate in 1965, he managed to get the Vietnam war on the Security Council's agenda by the minimum nine votes. He decided not to press for a debate because it was apparent he could not win any sort of endorsement for American intervention.

Later, when U.S. bombing of North Vietnam was at its peak, the American representatives were subjected to a barrage of criticism. Secretary General U Thant once remarked that if anyone presented a resolution calling for a bombing halt, the assembly would certainly adopt it. But nobody did.

The one time the United States resorted to the veto in the Security Council, the issue was not a major one.

Smallest of Quintuplets Succumbs

JERUSALEM (AP)—The smallest of Israel's first quintuplets, a boy, died today four days after birth, a spokesman at Hadassah Hospital announced.

The other boy and three girls were reported in satisfactory condition. The spokesman said he could not give the cause of death yet, but the infant had been having breathing difficulties since Tuesday morning and his condition deteriorated steadily.

"It may have been because he was too small," the spokesman added. The baby weighed only 24.7 ounces at birth.

Meanwhile, a respiratory problem of one of the girls has cleared, the spokesman said.

Mrs. Yitzhak Berman, 22, who gave birth to the three girls and two boys, was doing well, he added.

China Likely to Oppose All U.S. Proposals

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Up to now, if the Americans and Russians could agree, there was always some hope that the United Nations in any given crisis might be able to function effectively as a peace organization.

Mainland China's entry creates a new situation reflecting the realities of the global power triangle.

The new occupant of China's General Assembly chair—and of the permanent Security Council seat allotted by the charter—will oppose the United States on many if not most issues and probably will be just as hostile to the other superpower, the Soviet Union.

Peking commands a big and growing prestige, not only as one of five members of the Nuclear Weapons Club but because China is home for a quarter of the world's people.

The Peking delegation can attract much support from members from Africa, Asia and Latin America and even some from Eastern Europe, depending upon issues involved. Peking stands between the superpowers, able to have a go at tipping the scales in one direction or another or, failing that, to use a veto with paralyzing effect. The Soviet veto had been the only one anybody worried about in the past, and the Russians have used it sparingly in recent years. Now there are two vetoes to worry about.

Now it will take agreement by three governments instead of two to get anything of critical importance accomplished. Thus, Red China's entry into U.N. councils can generate problems even more formidable than those that have vexed the organization through its first quarter century.

Naval Forces in Vietnam Reduced

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP)—The U.S. Navy has nearly completed its Vietnamization program and has only 24 river craft, four bases and 14 radar stations still to be turned over to the South Vietnamese, official sources said today.

The disclosure heightened speculation that President Nixon, in his mid-November announcement on further U.S. disengagement from the war, will set a completion date for the U.S. troop withdrawal.

Present plans call for the Navy to complete its Vietnamization program by next July, but informed sources said U.S. advisers would be needed for a long time in electronics, radar, ship repair, maintenance and logistics.

The U.S. Navy will announce on Friday that a Vietnamese officer will take command of one of its major bases in South Vietnam, at Nha Be, 10 miles south of Saigon. The U.S. commander there will become an adviser to the South Vietnamese commander, and later the base will be given officially to the Vietnamese.

Since 1968, the U.S. Navy has turned over 939 ships, boats and other craft to the South Vietnamese navy. It also has given the Vietnamese 29 bases and four radar stations.

U.S. naval forces operating in South Vietnam have been reduced from a peak strength of 35,000 to 9,700 men.

The Vietnamese navy now numbers about 40,000 men. On the battlefield of Indochina, the major action reported was the destruction of the Spean Dek bridge 30 miles northeast of the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh.

Viet Cong frogmen blew up the bridge with floating charges for the second time in a year, cutting the supply line to more than 20,000 Cambodian troops on the northeastern front.

In South Vietnam, only small contacts were reported. The U.S. Command said a small Army observation plane was shot down in the central highlands near the Laotian border, and the two American crewmen were wounded.

Boyle Lists Things That You Could Well Do Without

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Things we could all do without:

Restaurants that try to make tea with lukewarm water. Beaches with plenty of bugs to bite you but no shells for the kids to pick up.

Park statues of forgotten civic notables. Toast that has one lump of grease in the middle instead of being buttered all over.

Lightning storms that strike when you have only two more holes to go and are ahead by three strokes. Wasting three dimes on the phone in a pay booth before discovering it's out of order.

Having to pay more for a sandwich now than you used to pay for a five-course lunch. Girls who take pottery lessons and insist on giving you their first masterpiece—a hunk of clay too big for an ashtray and too small to use as an umbrella stand.

Cashiers who hold back a bill for a moment in counting out change, hoping you'll hurry off without getting the full amount due you. Hats with brims so small you can't hold them on your head during a heavy wind.

Middle-aged women who retain the mannerisms which someone in their long ago childhood told them were cute. Girls with boots so big they look like Canadian trappers.

Career club women who are so busy with their duties that their husbands have to do most of the housework. Stadium-bought hot dogs so long and skinny they hang out of the bun at both ends like an overtired dachshund.

People so stingy or fearful they bolt the door and turn off the living room lights on Halloween so they won't have to face the trick-or-treat challenges of outlandishly costumed children.

Anybody who makes a profit out of being either for or against a war.

Blast Damages NATO Building Near Lisbon

LISBON (AP)—An explosion early today damaged a headquarters of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization eight miles west of Lisbon, the U.S. Embassy announced.

A spokesman said the cause of the explosion in the war room of IBERLANT—The Iberian Atlantic Command—had not been determined. It occurred at 3:10 a.m.

Unconfirmed reports said windows, doors and masonry were damaged.

The new IBERLANT headquarters are scheduled to be opened officially Friday by Portuguese President Americo Thomaz.

The American Embassy spokesman said that as far as he knew, the inaugural ceremony would go ahead as planned.

IBERLANT was set up in 1968 in temporary headquarters at Rio Maior, 14 miles northwest of Lisbon. It is under the command of Rear Adm. Eugene B. Fluckett of the United States.

Last June 3, a few hours before NATO opened its annual spring ministerial meeting in Lisbon, a series of bomb explosions cut off communications between Portugal and the rest of the world for five hours.

Yugoslavia's Tito Arrives for U.S. Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Tito of Yugoslavia arrives here today to begin a six-day state visit that will include talks with President Nixon and top administration officials.

The aging European Communist leader spent Tuesday night under tight security in Gandier, Newfoundland, during a brief stopover on his trip from Belgrade.

U.S. officials, who begin their talks with Tito Thursday, are expected to ask for his help in smoothing relations in the Middle East, where he long has sided with the Arab nations.

U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers, in an interview last week for Belgrade television, in effect asked Tito for assistance in efforts to reopen the Suez Canal.

The 79-year-old marshal, Rogers said, "could play a big role in helping to achieve an interim agreement."

Tito, who recently met with President Anwar Sadat of Egypt and Soviet party chief Leonid Brezhnev, probably will explore the Rogers proposal during his discussions here.

Despite his differences with the United States on the Middle East, Indochina and other questions, Tito has enjoyed a special relationship with the West ever since he defied Stalin and was ousted from the Moscow bloc in the late 1940s.

The Soviets patched up their differences with Belgrade in 1955, but Tito continued to steer an independent course, visiting the United States in 1960 and 1963 for talks with then Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and John F. Kennedy.

His visit this year is in return for President Nixon's 1970 trip to Yugoslavia.

Questions, Answers About SS

If you have any question regarding social security, send them to the Social Security Office, Box 1319, Texarkana, Texas 75501 Attention: Glenda Bozeman

Q. My brother-in-law and I filed for disability benefits in the same month. He received some back pay when his claim was approved, but I did not. Why is this?

A. The date of entitlement to benefits relates to the established date of onset of the disability rather than to the date the claim is filed. Apparently your brother-in-law became disabled at an earlier date than you. Disability benefits are payable beginning with the seventh month after the month of the disability onset.

Q. Does social security pay benefits based on partial disability? I ask this because I receive a check based on 60 per cent disability from the Veterans Administration.

A. Social Security does not rate disability in terms of percentage. The law provides that in order to be considered disabled for social security purposes, a person must be unable to perform substantial gainful activity for at least 12 consecutive months. This must be supported by medical evidence.

Q. Are persons who suffer self-inflicted injuries, or injuries caused by carelessness, entitled to disability benefits under social security?

A. The cause of injury or illness is not material in determining a person's eligibility for disability benefits.

Q. I am a patient in a tuberculosis hospital and have been approved for disability benefits. Will my checks stop when I am released from the hospital?

A. In most cases payments will not stop immediately. However you are required to notify the social security office at the time of your dismissal so that a determination can be made as to your continued entitlement to benefits.

Q. I am 63 and receive reduced retirement benefits. Three months ago I suffered a stroke and little improvement is expected. Am I entitled to higher benefits because of my disability?

A. Since you are still under age 65, it is possible that you could establish entitlement to a disability benefit which would be a little higher than your reduced retirement benefit. You should call or visit the social security office for more detailed information.

CHICKEN BOMBAY

The happy blend of spice comes from the cuisine of India.
3 pound frying chicken, cut up
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ginger
1/4 teaspoon cardamom
1/4 teaspoon chili powder
1/2 teaspoon turmeric
3 tablespoons butter
1 large clove garlic, minced
2 small onions, sliced thin and separated into rings
Wash and dry chicken. On a sheet of wax paper mix together the spices; spread out; roll chicken in spice. In a 10-inch skillet melt butter; add chicken and brown over moderate heat. Sprinkle with garlic and onion. Cover tightly and simmer until tender — about 30 minutes. Turn chicken once or twice during cooking, mixing onion with drippings in pan. Makes 4 servings.

GOOD DINNER
Roast Beef
Oven Potatoes
Green Peas
Bread Tray
Beet and Cucumber
Salad Molds

Apple Tart
Beverage
BEET AND CUCUMBER
SALAD MOLDS
A refreshing combination of flavors.
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
3/4 cup cold water
1 can (8 1/4 ounces) sliced beets
1/4 cup sugar
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon cider vinegar
2 tablespoons undrained bottled white horseradish
3/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup diced seeded cucumber
In a medium mixing bowl sprinkle gelatin over cold water to soften. Drain beets and dice. To beet liquid add enough water to make 1 cup; in a small saucepan bring to a boil; pour over gelatin. Add sugar and stir to dissolve. Stir in lemon juice, vinegar, horseradish and salt. Chill until mixture starts to congeal. Fold in diced beets and cucumber. Turn into 1/2 cup individual molds or custard cups. Chill until set. Unmold, garnish with lettuce, pass commercial sour cream mixed with minced chives or scallions (green onions) as a topping. Makes 6 servings.

PHYLL'S CHINESE-STYLE CELERY SOUP
This first course has authentic flavor.
1 medium-thick center-cut pork chop, fat and bone removed and cut into thin strips
1 small garlic clove, minced
3 large ribs celery, sliced thin
1 chicken bouillon cube
2 cups boiling water
12 sprigs watercress
Salt to taste
Into a medium saucepan turn the pork, garlic clove, bouillon cube and water; stir to dissolve cube. Simmer for 20 minutes, add watercress and salt. Makes 4 servings.

WHITE LIE HAS HIM WORRIED

Dear Helen:

As the oldest in the family, and the only man, I put off marriage first until my sisters were through college and settled, then because our mother needed help.

By the time she passed on after a long illness, I was 38, and not exactly the "eligible bachelor" type. When you're this age, and have little experience with women—well, people assume you're queer. Nowadays, any unmarried guy who doesn't keep a "bachelor pad" and a string of girls is suspected of liking only men.

I decided to change this, so I got a job in another state, told my employer I was divorced, and the word got around. Maybe my new self-image had something to do with it, but suddenly women were interested.

As you might guess, I've fallen in love and want to get married. She's a great person. But I've told her all about my "ex-wife." To bolster up my courage, I made it a good story. It wasn't hard—I just conjured up a person who was the exact opposite of the woman I love. She had a bad first marriage, "too," so we related right from the start.

My question: Do I confess and risk losing her, or do I keep this fictitious "ex" the rest of my life?—BACHELOR TURNED DIVORCEE

Dear BTD:

A "great person" will understand—and you'll feel mighty relieved to have this "ex" out of your life.

My I.G.A.P. ("I'm Guessing Again Perception") says he already suspects. Do you really think an inexperienced bachelor can convincingly describe a "wife" to the woman he loves?—H.

Dear Helen:

I've been going with a widower whose wife died three years ago. We get along perfectly, but he invariably talks about his wife! I feel left out, though I hate to mention this. He'd probably take it as jealousy.

I love him, and don't want to be part of threesome—that's why I keep my former life out of the conversation. My husband and I were very happy together and shared a wonderful relationship, but he's been gone five years. He wouldn't want me living in the past.

What do you say, Helen?—MARIE

Dear Marie:

I vote for life among the living. Perhaps your gentleman friend will, too, if you (temporarily) make this a foursome: Each time he mentions his former wife, remember an incident from YOUR marriage.

It shouldn't take long.—H.

Dear Helen:

It looks like soon they'll be taking homosexuality (between consenting adults) off the books as a crime. And it's high time we learned we can't legislate morality, or insist that all humans be cut of one pattern or the other.

But here's my question: When the gay life is no longer illegal, will the military go back and clear all those "undesirables" who were discharged with a black mark against their names?—WAITING

Dear Waiting:

I don't know. But here's a counter question: If homosexuality were no longer a crime, wouldn't the "undesirables" be automatically cleared? Surely the military wouldn't issue a new honorable discharge to each individual.—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star.

Group Will Study Service Centers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dr. Curtis Merrell, superintendent of the Monticello schools, said Monday that Gov. Dale Bumpers has promised to appoint a committee to study the possibility of establishing service centers of the state Department of Education.

Merrell said that Bumpers promised to appoint the committee before he left to tour Russia and Romania. Bumpers returned from the tour Saturday. Merrell told the Arkansas School Study Council that the regional centers were needed to supervise the districts. He said that it was too far to travel from the fringe area of the state to Little Rock.

Top Teams to Meet Some Tough Foes

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The top two teams in the country—Nebraska and Oklahoma—take on the No. 3 and 4 teams in the Big Eight—Colorado and Iowa State—this weekend. And since Nebraska and Oklahoma also happen to be No. 1 and 2 in the Big Eight, there should be some fun flying around the Midlands.

There's a Southeastern Conference doubleheader on tap at Jackson, Miss., with Louisiana State facing revenge-bent Mississippi in the afternoon and Alabama tangling with Mississippi State at night. Another SEC attraction pairs two of the nation's more publicized quarterbacks—Florida's John Reaves and Auburn's Pat Sullivan.

Penn State visits West Virginia in the East, with the winner likely to come away with the Lambert Trophy. Air Force and Arizona State clash in a battle between members of The Associated Press Second Ten. And Toledo, with 30 consecutive victories stashed away, tries to equal the longest winning streak of modern times against Miami of Ohio.

Colorado at Nebraska—Buffs have beaten LSU and Ohio State on the road and lost to Oklahoma. Cornhuskers' Bob Devaney says his boys aren't looking ahead to Oklahoma on Thanksgiving Day. They better not. NEBRASKA.

Iowa State at Oklahoma—Overlooked Cyclones are 5-1 and the surprise team of the Big Eight. Call Oklahoma's offense a cyclone, tornado, or what-have-you. OKLAHOMA.

Louisiana State vs. Mississippi at Jackson—All signs point to an upset. LSU could be looking ahead to Alabama and Ole Miss won't soon forget last year's 61-17 mauling. But the Rebels have already lost to SEC powers Alabama and Georgia and the Bayou Bengals are right up there. LSU.

Alabama vs. Mississippi State at Jackson—Bear Bryant needs one more victory to tie Jess Neely for fourth place on the all-time coaching list and become 'Bama's winningest coach ever. Does he want it? "I just want one more victory for old Alabama and for the team to go on to win the national championship, that's what I want," okay, Bear. ALABAMA.

Florida at Auburn—Gators could be the SEC spoilers with Auburn followed by Georgia. And they'd like nothing better than to get even for last year's 63-14 battering. With footballs filling the Alabama air ... AUBURN.

Penn State at West Virginia—Nittany Lions smell the roses. Well, maybe not roses, but certainly orange, sugar or cotton. Mountaineers will be without super soph Kerry Marbury. PENN STATE.

Air Force at Arizona State—First meeting ever and it should be a dilly. Arizona's Dan White riddled New Mexico for six touchdowns passes last week and the Sun Devils are supposed to be a running team. ARIZONA STATE.

Toledo at Miami of Ohio—Miami leads the series 14-4 but Toledo has won the last two from the Redskins and the last 30 against all comers. The last two years, though, the scores have been 14-10 and 14-13 so an upset isn't impossible. Resist the temptation to make this the Upset Special of the Week ... TOLEDO.

Georgia at South Carolina—Buildups won last year 52-34. Some of the walking wounded return this week as they take a break from SEC action ... as if any help were needed. GEORGIA.

Ohio State at Minnesota—Beware of Minnesota when November rolls around. Saturday however, is still October. OHIO STATE.

Stanford at Oregon State—Beavers have gone lose-win-lose-win-lose-win-lose. You know what that means? Nothing. STANFORD.

Florida State at Houston—An FSU player tripped Houston's

Nick Holm from the sidelines in last year's game. Now it's the Cougars turn to do the tripping. HOUSTON.

Southern California at California—Despite last week's triumph over Notre Dame, Trojans bring up the rear of the Pac-8 Bears, on probation, aren't in the race at all but have beaten three straight Pac-8 opponents. SOUTHERN CAL.

Hughes Didn't Know of His Condition

By LARRY PALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Is it possible for a strapping athlete to play the bruising game of professional football with only one of three main arteries supplying blood to his heart at a normal rate, a second only 30 per cent operative and a third nearly inoperative? It sounds impossible, or at least implausible.

But 28-year-old Chuck Hughes of the Detroit Lions did it and no one, neither he nor his doctors, knew that he had the condition which led to his death.

Hughes died Sunday of a heart attack caused by a blood clot and hardening of the arteries. He was pronounced dead at a Detroit hospital less than an hour after he collapsed on the field at Tiger Stadium with one minute remaining in a game against the Chicago Bears.

Although no one knew Hughes had hardening of the arteries, the 6-foot, 180-pound wide receiver had complained of chest pains earlier this year.

After being hospitalized for a short time when he suffered an injury Sept. 4 in an exhibition game against the Buffalo Bills, he was held out of action until he played briefly Sept. 26 against the New England Patriots.

Prior to the Patriots game he told a reporter: "I don't know what's wrong. I have had sharp pains in my stomach and my chest and they've made all sorts of tests, but nobody seems to be able to figure them out. I want to play, though. They aren't that bad."

"They thought I broke a rib or two, but that's not it. I guess I'll be all right."

Dr. Richard A. Thompson, one of two Lionsteam physicians, said Hughes was given a cardiogram and arteriogram and that these, along with other laboratory tests, failed to show anything wrong.

The other Lions physician, Dr. Edwin R. Guise said, "Obviously the circulation which he had to his heart was sufficient for him until he developed the clot.... That apparently was the straw that broke the camel's back. It was the terminal episode."

He said a massive clot cut off blood completely in one artery to the heart and was determined to be the cause of death. Guise announced the finding Monday after an autopsy by the Wayne County medical examiner, Dr. Tansy Tworek.

A spokesman for the medical examiner described Hughes' heart attack as "the thing an 87-year-old person could have died from."

Entire Lions' Team Attends Funeral

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The entire Detroit Lions' football team was expected to join a large crowd of mourners here today for the funeral of teammate Chuck Hughes.

Graveside services were to be held at noon for Hughes, a wide receiver who died Sunday after collapsing on the field in a game against Chicago.

Only 28, he was the victim of a heart attack brought on by undetected arterial disease.

A Lion spokesman said about 70 persons were to fly here aboard a chartered jet to attend today's services.

Among those expected were Lions' General Manager Ross Brotnus, head coach Joe Schmidt, other team officials and the rest of the coaching staff.

FS Northside Still Rated State's Best

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — For the first time in weeks, there was some continuity to The Associated Press high school football poll.

The first six teams remained the same and only one new team moved into the top 10.

Fort Smith Northside continues to be a unanimous choice for the top spot in the poll, getting first place votes from all 17 sportswriters and sportscasters participating in the poll. The Grizzlies ran their record to 8-0 Friday night with a 20-7 victory over Muskogee, Okla., top-ranked team in Oklahoma last week.

Stuttgart, Little Rock Catholic, Hot Springs, Forrest City and Rogers followed Northside in that order just as they did last week.

Stuttgart bombed DeWitt 38-12 last week. Forrest City whipped Wynne 26-7 and Rogers remained unbeaten with a 41-6 victory over Huntsville.

Little Rock Parkview, an impressive 29-6 winner over Texarkana, moved up a notch to seventh. Little Rock McClellan slipped from seventh to eighth despite a 35-25 decision over Jacksonville. Little Rock Hall beat North Little Rock 14-3 and remained ninth.

North Little Rock, which ran its record to 6-2 with a 14-6 triumph over Conway, replaced Texarkana in the No. 10 slot. Stuttgart and Rogers continue 1-2 in Class AA, but unbeaten Hot Springs Lakeside has replaced Conway as the No. 3 team.

Marked Tree, Gravette, Des Arc — all winners last week — rank 1-2-3 in Class A.

Danville is still the top vote getter in Class B followed by Harding Academy. Both are unbeaten. Dierks replaced Norphlet in third place.

Here are the results of The Associated Press High School football poll with first place votes and team records in parentheses and total points at right:

1. FS Northside (17) (8-0) 170
 2. Stuttgart (7-1) 145
 3. L.R. Catholic (3-1-1) 120
 4. Hot Springs (6-1) 102
 5. Forrest City (5-0-1) 92
 6. Rogers (7-0) 90
 7. L.R. Parkview (5-2) 67
 8. L.R. McClellan (6-2) 63

Scott, Erving Combine for 74 Points

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Virginia Squares, with Charley Scott, were good enough to win the Eastern Division of the American Basketball Association last season.

This year, with Julius Erving on hand to serve as Scott's run-and-mate, the Squares have their sights set on dethroning the Utah Stars as ABA champions.

And if they play like they did last night, don't bet against them.

Scott, a 6-foot-6 backcourtman, and Erving, a 6-6 forward, combined for 74 points as the Squares overran the Pittsburgh Condors 149-136.

With Scott keying a blistering fast break, the Squares jumped to a 44-32 first period lead and were never challenged.

Elsewhere in the ABA, the New York Nets edged the Floridians 128-116 in double over-

Cornerback of Vikings Gets the Nod

NEW YORK (AP) — "They've thrown a lot to my side and I've learned to be ready for anything," Ed Sharrockman said.

When the Baltimore Colts threw to his side he was ready. When they ran to his side, same thing. His repeated game-saving plays enabled Minnesota to whip the Colts 10-3 and earned the Vikings' cornerback honors today as The Associated Press Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

The 10-year veteran, a 6-foot, 200-pounder from Pitt drafted by the Vikings when they were formed, edged out linebackers Willie Lanier of Kansas City, a winner earlier this season, and Fred Forsberg of Denver.

Sharrockman not only saved Monday night's nationally televised game for the Vikes but, midway in the first period, set the tone for the clash and, unofficially, won it for them.

The statistics show that Dave Osborn blasted over from two yards out for the only touchdown of the night—but Minnesota wouldn't have been in position to get it had Sharrockman not intercepted an Earl Morrall pass at the Colts' 29-yard line.

In the second period he did it again, this time picking off a pass in the Vikings' end zone after Morrall had directed Baltimore down to the Minnesota 28.

He didn't make that many tackles. He didn't have to, what with the contributions by fellow defensive backs Karl Kassulke and Charlie West, along with the Vikes' murderous front four.

But two that Sharrockman did make were back-breakers, as far as the Colts were concerned.

In the first quarter, the Colts' premier runner, Norm Bulaich, exploded up the middle on a draw play that looked like a sure touchdown—before Sharrockman hauled him down at the Vikings' 21 after a 40-yard gallop.

And in the second period, Tom Matte tried to sweep around left end for a score but again Sharrockman was there, hauling him down at the five on the third-down play. Minnesota held when a fourth-down pass fell incomplete.

Lanier made seven unassisted tackles, helped out on three others, recovered a fumble on Washington's first play of the game and intercepted a pass to set up a Kansas City field goal Sunday as the Chiefs whipped the previously unbeaten Redskins 20-0.

Broyles Not Pleased With His Defense

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said the "defense left a little to be desired" following Tuesday's two-hour practice.

Broyles said his defense has to prepare for a different offensive attack from Texas A&M than they faced last week against North Texas State.

The offense received a break this week since A&M's basic defense is the same as they worked against in last week's game.

Jon Richardson went through his second practice session Tuesday. He had been out since the Razorback's third game of the year with a fractured leg bone.

"His leg wasn't sore," Broyles said of the junior running back, "he should be close to being at 100 per cent Saturday. His conditioning could be a factor, but the leg should be at 100 per cent."

Black Hawks Win Over Red Wings

DETROIT (AP) — Chicago's Stan Mikita scored one goal and added two assists to lead the Black Hawks to a 5-2 victory over the hapless Detroit Red Wings Tuesday night.

Dennis and Bobby Hull each scored once, along with Doug Jarrett and Jim Pappin, to complete Chicago's scoring.

Goals by Leon Rochefort and Bill Collins kept the Red Wings close for a time early in the game.

Detroit fans booed and heckled the hornetowners, who now have a 2-6 record, during most of the contest. When the public address announcer gave the customary "one minute to play" the 11,789 persons in the audience applauded the announcement lustily.

Chicago outshot the Red Wings 31-24.

Everyone Needs Good Vida Blue Is Quarterback, Stallings Winner of Has Had to Use Four Young Award

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry chooses to alternate two quarterbacks.

Texas A&M Coach Gene Stallings has had no choice—he's had to use four quarterbacks.

"The two quarterbacks we were planning on playing, Lex James and Mark Green, were both injured and miss full practice," Stallings said. "The two quarterbacks we were not planning on playing, Joe Mac King and Tim Trimmier, are doing the most playing."

King, a senior, has started the last two games and is expected to get the call Saturday night against eighth-ranked Arkansas at Little Rock.

"King has done a good job for us, but he's just limited on the things he can do," Stallings said. King, who is majoring in veterinary medicine, missed valuable practice time early in the season because practices and his classes conflicted.

"Everybody needs to have a first-team quarterback," Stallings said in a telephone interview. "Arkansas is a little bit better with Joe Ferguson at quarterback and Texas plays a little bit better with Eddie Phillips in the game."

In addition to the problem at quarterback, the Aggies have had several other injuries.

"The players are playing hard and giving outstanding effort, but it would help to have them all out there," Stallings said.

Texas A&M opened the season with a 41-7 victory over Wichita State and then lost five in a row before edging Baylor 10-9 last week. During the five losses, the Aggies managed only 17 points.

"We've played pretty good defense, but we've hurt ourselves so much," Stallings said. "We'll lose a fumble or throw an interception. We've just stopped ourselves."

The Aggies had only one turnover against Baylor, a pass interception.

The Aggies have allowed only 10 first downs in their last six quarters. TCU managed to move the chains three times in the last half of a 14-3 victory over A&M and Baylor made only seven first downs last week.

Stallings was asked about stopping Arkansas' balanced attack which has averaged more than 470 yards a game while the Razorbacks have run up a 6-1 record.

"Nobody has stopped Ferguson from throwing the ball yet and I'm no magician," Stallings said. "We'll do everything we can to eliminate the long one."

Stallings said he was impressed with Arkansas' backs, receivers and linebackers. "Anybody that's got outstanding people at those positions has got to be good," he said.

Stallings refused to compare Arkansas with top-ranked Nebraska or 11th-ranked LSU. Nebraska beat the Aggies 34-7 and LSU blitzed A&M 31-0 earlier in the year.

A&M is the first of four straight Southwest Conference opponents for the Razorbacks, who defeated North Texas State 60-21 last week in a nonconference game despite 10 turnovers. Four victories would mean the SWC title and the Cotton Bowl.

The Razorbacks have beaten A&M 12 of the 13 years Frank Broyles has been head coach.

"We'll fight Foster," said Rondon's manager, Felix Zabala, "the minute they stack $100,000 on the table. So far, the best offer has been $60,000."

Kansas City Chiefs Full of Admiration

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs are the National Football League's mutual admiration society of the year.

Otis Taylor hauls in five passes for 105 yards against the tough defense of the Washington Redskins, and he talks about the savvy of a veteran quarterback Len Dawson, and the work of the offensive line.

Dawson takes to the field after a disheartening first half in which he completed one of 10 passes for two yards—with his team trailing 17-6—and finishes with 163 yards on 10 completions and a 27-20 victory. His talk is about his line and receivers.

Coach Hank Stram, who thinks collectively, says, "We came back because we have 40 great people."

This is true. But at one key moment, it was all Dawson and Taylor.

Because of that moment and clutch individual effort in other instances of the game, the two were named for co-honors as The Associated Press Offensive Players of the Week in the NFL.

That one moment:

It's tied 20-20 and the Chiefs are on Washington's 28-yard line with just under four minutes left—second down and nine to go. Dawson's precarious protection breaks down and very large defensive end Verlon Biggs, fresh from the bench, rumbles in virtually untouched with his sights on the quarterback. He outweighs by nearly 100 pounds.

Dawson released the ball an "nth" of a second before Biggs buried him. "I saw Otis break," Dawson said, "but when you get hit like that..."

Thirty yards downfield, Taylor, breaking for the goal from the right, reached for the high pass—but only with his right arm. Pat Fischer, the diminutive but tough 11-year veteran defensive halfback who was meeting Taylor for the first time, was draped on his back. He had Taylor's left arm locked against the receiver's side.

It was a spectacular one-handed completion, the ball bouncing from the outstretched hand and Taylor quickly cradling it against his chest for the game's final touchdown.

Dawson, who was still under Biggs and never saw the completion, said after the game, "I heard the roar of the crowd, and knowing I was in Kansas City, I guessed something good must have happened."

With six regular season games under their belts, the Dawson-to-Taylor combination has accounted for 27 receptions, good for 578 yards and five touchdowns.

And their next game, against perennial rival Oakland—with whom they are tied with 5-1 records—could put the tandem over its season-long yardage mark during the entire 1970 season—618 yards.

Dawson and Taylor were selected for the weekly honor over Bobby Douglass, the Chicago Bears' last-ditch quarterback, and Miami Dolphins' running backs Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick.

Douglass, forced into action by injuries to Jack Concannon and Kent Nix, hit on 15 of 23 passes for 160 yards and two touchdowns and plunged over for the winning score as Chicago upset Detroit 28-23.

Csonka had 137 yards in 20 carries and Kiick 121 in 17—career highs for both—as Miami defeated the New York Jets, 30-14.

Roger Staubach of the Dallas Cowboys, who passed for 197 yards and two touchdowns and added another on the ground himself, was also a nominee after his team smashed the New England Patriots 44-21.

Son of Star Makes His Own Mark

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP)—Earlier this year, former Arizona State University football star Wilford "Whizzer" White said his son, Danny, a sophomore at ASU, would have to make his own mark.

Danny has begun to make his "mark," although both he and his father indicate that it's early to make too many predictions about the athlete's future.

The elder White, a halfback during his collegiate days, ended his four-year varsity career in 1950 with the NCAA mark for the most yards gained during a career. The record still stands. "I want to see him play, but I don't want people to continually associate him with me," the elder White emphasized in reference to Danny.

The Whites are no relation to Byron "Whizzer" White, All-American back in 1937 at the University of Colorado and now a Supreme Court Justice.

After Saturday's display of Danny's passing ability, it may not be too long before fans start referring to Whizzer as "Danny's father" and not to Danny as "Whizzer's son."

A shoulder separation had forced young Dan to miss 3½ games prior to last weekend's encounter with New Mexico. The 6-foot-3, 175-pound signal caller came on in that contest to toss six touchdown passes and lead ASU to a 60-28 victory.

For that performance, the 19-year-old Mesa, Ariz., athlete was named college back of the week by The Associated Press.

"I was pretty surprised about that," Danny said Tuesday. "But other than six touchdown passes, it wasn't really that big of a day." He noted that he

SMU Player Wins Honors in the SWC

DALLAS (AP) — Robert Popelka remembered sideline instructions he received last year to position himself for a 76-yard touchdown interception return that helped propel Southern Methodist to an 18-17 Southwest Conference victory over Texas Tech Saturday.

Popelka stepped in front of Tech ace receiver Johnny Odom to pluck Charles Napper's pass and turn the game around which was tied 3-3 in the third period.

His performance won him The Associated Press Southwest Conference Defensive Player of the week award in a close fight among Texas linebacker Tommy Woodard and Tech nose guard Don Reeves.

"Coach Dudley Parker told me to be looking for a curl route over the middle," Popelka said. "Tech had hit one before and they (Tech) have a habit of running successful plays again."

"Sure enough they ran a curl and I just broke in front of him (Odom). Two guys (Odom and Napper) had good shots at me. I thought if I could get by them I would have a good return. At Rice last week the same kind of thing happened to me. I broke in front of their receiver for the interceptions and there was nobody in front of me. I just know I could have gone all the way on it but I just flat dropped it. I wasn't about to drop this one."

Popelka said he kept remembering last year's 14-10 loss to the Red Raiders in Lubbock.

They were leading 10-7 and Tech was driving for a touchdown late in the game. They took me out for a play and told me to be looking for Napper to pick Odom over the middle. Just as they were telling me how to defend against it Napper hit Odom over the middle for a touchdown and I was on the sidelines."

Popelka said he "Always tries to go for the interception if I have a shot at it....The coach tells us to try to intercept and when in doubt go through the man to the football."

"Popelka has a sprinter's speed and a linebacker's heart. He has the ability to run clear across the field to make a tackle," SMU Coach Hayden Fry said.

Popelka ran a 9.7 last year in the Border Olympics.

only threw 15 passes during the entire game (although he completed 12 of them for an 80 per cent completion mark).

"All my pass receivers seemed to be wide open," Danny remarked, "and nobody really bumped me very hard all afternoon."

"Of course I am thrilled," his father said. "My only reservation is that the fans don't expect that kind of performance all the time."

Navy Tackle Is Lineman of Week

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Navy football team has been playing sour music for some time now but Chuck Voith decided to change the tune last Saturday.

The junior linebacker made 15 solo tackles, nine assisted tackles, forced two fumbles and recovered three bobbles as Navy upset 19th-ranked Duke 15-14.

For that performance, the 6-foot, 203-pounder from San Antonio, Tex., was named national college Lineman of the Week by The Associated Press.

"Since I've been coaching," said Rick Forzano, "I've never seen a linebacker in more perfect position. I've never seen one get to the football with such abandon and hit people more face-up on every tackle."

On Duke's first offensive play, Voith forced a fumble and recovered the ball at the Blue Devil 40. In the second period he forced a fumble that Navy recovered at the Duke 20. On Duke's next series he latched onto still another fumble at the losers' 25.

All those heroics were to no avail, though, as Navy couldn't convert any of them into points. But Voith wasn't through. He recovered one last fumble at the Duke 33 with 3:59 to play and nine plays later Fred Stuvek passed to Andy Pease for the tying touchdown. Roger Lanning booted the game-winning conversion.

Until Saturday, it hadn't been a very good year for Voith, along with the rest of the team. Part of the trouble stemmed from Navy's switch from a 4-3 to a 4-4 defensive front, which sent Voith from middle linebacker to an inside spot.

"I was thinking too much of my own effort," he said. "A lot of my problem was fighting the instinct to go to the football. Saturday I waited until it came to me."

Voith can play a pretty mean piano, too, but Saturday's music was the sweetest yet.

"I guess I took piano lessons mostly because my mother encouraged me," he recalls. "I haven't had the opportunity to play much since entering the Naval Academy. When I do play, my tastes run to popular music primarily."

"I was probably playing the piano when most other kids were out playing football. My mother tries to get me back to the keyboard when I'm at home, but without much success. It seems like I've had more luck with football coaches than piano teachers."

9 out of 10 new Chryslers registered in the last 10 years are still on the road.

1962 Chrysler

That should tell you a lot about the cars we sell.

Whether you own a big or small car, pay a little or a lot, the one thing you don't need from a car is trouble. You want a car that will hold up. A car that's built to last.

Well, we're with you. Just look at this figure:

9 out of 10 new Chryslers registered in the last 10 years are still on the road.

This includes all the various owners, any kind of terrain, and numbers of miles. But every Chrysler is designed and built the way you want it—to last. So even if you won't be keeping a car for years and years, it's good to know you've got all that quality going for you in your first year as well as in later years.

Every Chrysler Imperial is road-tested at the factory.

If our cars aren't right, we don't want you to have them. For example, every Imperial is put through a road test at the factory that includes over 100 different checks before it reaches you.

This year every Chrysler car offers a new optional electronic ignition system that does away with the points and condenser that can wear out. This helps keep the engine tuned longer. And a tuned engine means cleaner exhaust.

From our lowest-priced Chrysler Royal to our big, luxurious Imperial, Chrysler cars are built to last. The same is true of every Chrysler-engineered car we sell—Valiant, Duster, Crickit, Satellite and Fury.

We think that's the kind of car America wants. That's the kind of car we'd like to show you. Come see us today.

Newport Royal 2-Door Hardtop

You gotta have heart.

The quality of a Chrysler starts deep down in the heart of the car. That's where you've gotta have it. That's where you get it. With such time- and road-proven features as Chrysler's torsion-bar suspension and Torque-Flite automatic transmission. The rigid strength of unibody construction. And a 7-step dip-and-spray anti-rust process. Extra care like that is why so many Chryslers stay in great shape.

Coming through with the kind of car America wants.

The Vienna coup is a special form of squeeze. Declarer starts by setting up a trick for one of his opponents. Then he winds up by squeezing him out of it.

Most of the time it is an ace play and today's hand is no exception.

South happens to be in six notrump, but it makes little difference what the contract is in a squeeze.

He can count 12 easy tricks. Four in spades, two in hearts, one in diamonds and five in clubs. Where is a 13th trick coming from? It has to come in one of the red suits.

Maybe West's queen of hearts was from a doubleton queen-jack. Maybe there is a singleton king of diamonds. This is most unlikely and it appears certain that West is sitting with the jack of hearts. What does he want? What

Silent Heart Attack Can Really Occur

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—During a recent checkup an internist told me I had a heart attack in the past and my electrocardiogram shows scarred tissue. It came as a shock as I've never been known to have a heart condition previously. Could this possibly be brought on by smoking? On my medical claim he diagnosed it as ASHD, old M.I. Could you please explain this in your column and is it very serious?

Dear Reader—Yes, you can have a heart attack and never know it. We call these "silent heart attacks" and they are usually found with an electrocardiogram during a routine examination, or are noted on a post-mortem examination.

Not all of these are truly without symptoms or silent, but cause such mild symptoms that the condition is not suspected. I have seen several apparently healthy men who have had this occur and then they remembered an episode of mild indigestion they had ignored. We had problems of this sort with the Air Force flying population. Others had no story of any illness whatever.

Some people normally have electrocardiograms that look like those caused by heart attacks. This is why I hate to diagnose a heart attack if the person has not had any trouble and otherwise appears normal. The best way to be sure a heart attack has occurred is to have an old record available for comparison. Since we had yearly records for the Air Force flying population we were able to spot changes and also knew what a man's record looked like normally. Sometimes we could spot

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

During the Boston Tea Party of 1773, colonists disguised as Indians dumped British tea cargoes into Boston harbor, because of an unpopular British tea tax which colonists believed would encourage other duties. The World Almanac notes that the "tea party" helped rally the colonies against increasing interference in colonial trade.

can South do? The stage is set for a Vienna coup if West also holds the king of diamonds. South doesn't need to play his ace of diamonds at trick two, but he might as well. The play looks prettier that way. Then he cashes his three top spades and runs his five clubs ending up in dummy. He cashes his queen of spades and now dummy's last two cards are the heart seven and diamond queen while South holds king 10 of hearts. West cannot protect both diamonds and hearts and will be squeezed out of his trick.

America's top experts explain their tournament-winning techniques in a new 128-page book on JACOBY MODERN. For your copy sent $1 with your name, address and zip code to "Win at Bridge," c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Instead of bidding three clubs, you partner has bid three diamonds over your two opening bids. What do you do?

heart trouble sooner because a change had occurred from the earlier record. This is one reason I recommend that every adult should have an electrocardiogram and it should be part of the permanent medical records for later study and comparison.

Silent heart attacks are caused by the same thing as those that cause symptoms. This includes smoking. A heavy smoker—man or woman will increase his likelihood of having a heart attack as much as three times the risk he might have if he didn't smoke. Stopping smoking almost immediately removes the increased risk—so it is never too late to quit.

M.I. means old myocardial infarction, the medical term for damage (infarction) to the heart muscle (myocardium), and ASHD is an abbreviation for arteriosclerotic heart disease, the common type of heart disease caused by fatty deposits (atherosclerosis) in the arteries leading to the heart.

I am amazed that there are not more silent heart attacks since the heart itself is nearly devoid of nerves for pain. The pain from a heart attack is really referred pain to other areas of the body, like the arm, shoulder or chest.

PERSONAL FINANCE

By CARLTON SMITH

One myth about the cost of life insurance has been demolished—though not very publicly, so far—by a new method of calculating policy costs.

The myth: "There's not much difference in the cost of life insurance, from one company to another, for a given size policy."

The new cost formula, applied to the policies of 40 major companies, shows that insurance issued at age 35 costs nearly twice as much, from the most expensive company, as from the least expensive. Specifically, 92 per cent more.

The answer to the question, "Does it pay to shop around for life insurance?" is, therefore, a resounding YES.

Worked out by an industry-wide committee, the new "interest-adjusted" method of calculating costs takes a realistic view, at long last, of the effects of interest lost or earned, when premiums are paid or dividends received.

If you've ever had an insurance agent explain the "real" cost of a policy, using the traditional method, you heard something like this: "Over a 20-year period, the premiums of $240 a year total $4,800. Meanwhile, you would receive estimated dividends of $1,500. Subtract that from premiums, and your net cost is only $3,300, or $165 a year."

This fails to take into account the fact that when you pay $240 at the beginning of the year, you are out not only the $240, but the interest that you could have collected had the $240 remained in your savings account. You forego the interest this year, and each of the next 19 years. It mounts up.

Figured this way, by the interest-adjusted method (which takes 4 per cent as a long-term, after-tax average), your outlay for premiums is not $4,800, but $7,433. Allowing for earned interest on the dividend payments gives a net cost of not $3,300, but $5,430.

Traditionally, the insurance man showing you the cost of a policy will next "give" you the cash value at the end of 20 years. (You can't take it without giving up your insurance, so it's a questionable gift.) In the example above, where net outlay was $3,300 by the traditional method, the cash value in 20 years is $3,610. So your insurance has cost you nothing. In fact, you're $310 ahead!

According to the more realistic interest-adjusted method, however, you are out of pocket $1,820 over the 20 years, with the same $3,610 cash value.

Even more realistically, since you presumably buy insurance to keep it, not cash it in after a certain number of years, the real 20-year cost is $5,430.

If the new interest-adjusted method were adopted by all the companies, there would be no more of the arithmetic prestidigitations purporting to show how you

Letters To The Editor

This your newspaper. Write to it. Address letters to: Editor The Star, P.O. Box 648, Hope, Ark. 71801. All letters must be signed, with address so you are identified to the newspaper staff, but if the character of the letter permits we will allow use of a pen-name in the publication, in case you should add "Citizen," or some other word below your real name and address.

Pen-names are permitted when a letter deals only with issues. Direct attacks upon public officials, however, must bear the writer's name for publication.

Thanks For Publicity

Editor-the-Star: The Hope B & PW Club wishes to express its appreciation to the Hope Star for its good promotion of National Business Women's Week through pictures and news items during the week of October 17-23. Because of the good press coverage, the public was made more aware of the role of women in the world of business.

Thank You. Sincerely,

MARY ANITA LASETER
Corresponding Secretary

More Praise For Band

Editor-the-Star: After reading the letter in the Hope Star concerning the Hope Band, I certainly agree with her. I know the Band works hard to give a good performance for the football boys and fans and I think they should be cheered as well as the players. I have a grandson in the band and I know how hard he works. So lets cheer them.

Blevins Growing

Editor-the-Star: Much has and is being said by words and pictures about the industrial growth of Hope and the Hope area in the past few weeks. We are proud for you, but nothing has been said about the progress your first cousin, Blevins, has made over the past two years.

The population of Blevins has increased from 197 to about 275 in the past two years, and the prospects are good for further increase.

Twelve new dwellings have been built in Blevins in the past two years, ranging in price from $9,500 to $20,000.

A new gym has been built at a cost of approximately $50,000 for the Blevins school system.

A check with all the business houses in Blevins shows a substantial increase in sales, also the Bank of Blevins shows a substantial growth in deposits over the past two years.

Two dairy queens and a garage and service station are under construction at the present time.

All phases of the poultry industry in the Blevins area are increasing at a rapid speed. Rumor has it that the old Corn Belt Hatcheries near Blevins has changed hands and the 300 acre farm will be converted into a real poultry farm with a processing plant and probably a shoe factory. It is hard to separate facts from rumors.

Thanks to the Highway Department and our County Judge, all the roads in the Blevins area are in excellent condition at the present time.

The people of Blevins have not neglected the Spiritual side of life, as they have five churches in the town and several in the Blevins trade area and are moving forward each day, looking for new frontiers to conquer.

With kind and warm personal regards to you and each member of your Staff, I am Sincerely yours,

LESTER WADE

Piston Coach Fumes Over Goal-Tending

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bill van Breda Kolff was fit to be tied.

The coach of the Detroit Pistons fumed over a goal-tending call in the last four seconds of play that gave the Houston Rockets a 104-103 nod over the Pistons in the National Basketball Association Tuesday night.

"Elvin Hayes was all over the basket," the Piston coach screamed. "Bob Lanier didn't touch it."

With time running out and Detroit leading 103-102, Mike

Newlin got off a jump shot for the Rockets. Hayes and Lanier both went up in the air from underneath the basket.

Referee Kenny Hudson ruled that Lanier knocked the ball off the rim. He called it goal-tending and awarded the winning basket to Newlin. It was Houston's first victory of the season after six straight defeats.

The champion Milwaukee Bucks made it seven in a row by routing Baltimore 120-90 and the New York Knicks made it seven straight over Boston by defeating the Celtics 106-101.

Stores Must Have Price Lists Ready

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some merchants don't know it, but by Nov. 1 they must have available for public inspection a list of ceiling prices on all items they sell.

Merchants who do know about the requirement, set out in an Office of Emergency Preparedness directive, say the difficulty in complying by the deadline is titanic.

All businessmen contacted in an Associated Press survey said, however, that they intended to comply, despite the difficulty.

W. D. Todd, who operates Todd Appliance Co. in North Little Rock, said Tuesday, "I didn't know there was any such order."

"Gosh, we're falling more under dictatorial business as time goes by," he said. "But if that's the law, then we'll try to get a list posted."

He estimated that roughly 1,000 to 1,200 items are sold in his business, each of which must be placed on the ceiling price list.

"That would take a day or two full time and I just don't have the time to mess with that," Todd said. "But if that's what I've got to do, I guess I'll do it."

The OEP order of Oct. 12 provides that:

—On each floor of a seller's establishment he must have at least one sign, minimum of 30 by 40 inches, announcing that ceiling price information is available.

—The sign must be headed with the words: Ceiling Price Information.

—The language under the sign's heading must be: Information regarding the lawful ceiling price for any item sold by this store may be obtained by filling in a ceiling price information request form available at (specify location) and by handing it to (fill in). You will receive a speedy answer by mail.

—On each selling floor, the store owner or operator must have at least one location where the ceiling price information request form is available.

The form includes spaces for the name of an item, its retail price, style number, department where sold and the name and address of the inquirer. The directive says that upon getting a request, the seller must respond with information within 48 hours.

A spokesman for Safeway Stores said signs should be going up this week in the firm's 71 stores in Arkansas and four neighboring states.

The master list for the Safeway chain will involve more than 6,000 items and the request forms already are being distributed to the stores.

"We busted our backsides, but we'll be ready to go by the deadline," the Safeway spokesman said.

He said he sympathized with the small retail stores that lacked a computer-based accounting system that reduces the burden of compiling a master ceiling price list.

"It must be an almost insurmountable task for him," the Safeway man said. "Some of those little guys—I don't know how they're going to do it."

A spokesman for the J. C. Penney Co. said that the firm's New York office, aided by computer systems, no doubt was working on the problem and would have appropriate materials distributed to the stores by the deadline.

"We may have an advantage in that we don't exercise local control over pricing—ours is the same systemwide," the Penney spokesman said. He offered a ballpark estimate of 200,000 to 300,000 on the number of items Penney's sells.

Tad Phillips, executive vice president of the M. M. Cohn Co. store in Little Rock, said his firm was working at the "herculean task" of compiling a list of prices on the store's items, which number an estimated 250,000. A novel of 250,000 words is considered a fair-sized chunk of work, but a list of 250,000 items is likely to involve many more words to cover the item's description, price and so on.
